PREFACE.

THE Publisher and the Editor hereby tender their hearty thanks to the buyers and readers of this periodical, and especially to those whose contributions constitute its entire contents.

In this volume there is another instalment of the Polygonymal Pinax of the British Plants, and it is believed that there will be room found for the residue during the current months of 1862. An expectation is indulged that the Publisher will be encouraged to reprint it, instead of a new edition of the London Catalogue.
